A young married couple come to possess the island home of a famous turn-of-the-century illusionist. Their occupation of the house disturbs something evil, something malignant that has been trapped in the house 100 years prior. Its release contaminates the house and slowly infects Don, the husband. The player assumes the role of his wife, Adrienne, and must solve the mystery, locating the only living witness to century-old events that unleashed an entity that now consumes her husband.
